THE CITY.

City Court Grand Jury.

This body is at work to-day upon a number of important cases. This is their last sitting for the present month.

Disinfecting.

The Sanitary Inspectors have commenced the work of disinfecting the filthy alleys, sewers and gutters. Not a bit too soon.

Esther.

This beautiful oratorio will be given at Weisiger Hall to-morrow night. This, we understand, will positively be its last presentation here.

Repeating Pavement.

The Nicholson pavement at the intersection of Fifth and Jefferson, having shown indications of sinking below the proper level, is being taken up and relaid.

City Council.

The City Council meets to-night at the Council Chamber, corner of Sixth and Jefferson. The State House of Reform session will probably come up again to-night.

Personal.

Mr. John J. Roberts, of the Courier-Journal office, who was a delegate from this city to the National Typographical Union, recently in session at Albany, N. Y. returned home this morning.

Distinct and Positive.

Mayor Leftwich, of Memphis, publicly avows that certain members of the Board of Aldermen in that city have had secret meetings, and concocted a plan to "steal" from the people.

That Bread Case.

In the case of J. M. Moore vs. F. W. Stimmell, in the United States District Court this morning, the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant.

Free Passes.

The Mayor, the members of the Common Council, and other prominent city officials, received free passes to-day for an excursion over the new Louisville and Cincinnati railroad next week.

Found.

A gentleman's breast-pin was found yesterday and left with officer John Martin, at the police headquarters, where the owner of it can call, prove property and obtain possession of the same.

Picnicking.

The "old reliable" "Tywaspita" club has been revived, and the members thereof went out on a special train to O'Bannon's station, on the Louisville and Lexington railroad, this morning, where they indulge in a grand picnic to-day.

Beautiful May.

Miss Jennie May, of Russellville, lately advertised for a husband. The Herald says Miss Jennie has received letters and photographs from all the principal cities and towns from New York to San Francisco. It is pleasant to go a-Maying.

For Frankfort.

The deputy Sheriff of Todd county, Mr. E. M. Flack, arrived in the city this morning, having in charge Rufus W. Morrow, convicted of manslaughter in the Todd Circuit Court, and sentenced to the State Prison for the term of eight years. Morrow was registered at the hotel de Thomas this morning, where he sojourns until the leaving of the first train from Frankfort. He was for a long time confined in our jail for safe keeping previous to his trial and conviction.

Wedding Militaire.

Captain D. F. C. Weller, commander of the Helms Guards, was united in marriage to Miss Mary Emma Fowler, at the First Presbyterian Church, last evening. The Guards were present in full force and uniform, and went through the proper (we suppose) military movements for the occasion. The church was well filled with the friends of the bride and groom. The happy pair have our warmest wishes for a blissful future.

Suspected Felons.

For several days past two young men have been observed by watchmen on the levee hanging about the wharfboat of the Cincinnati mail line, evidently with no good or proper object. Detective Gallagher told one of these young men, a day or two since, that he and his partner must hunt some other loafing place; that their conduct was very suspicious, and if they were caught so loafing about much longer he would have to arrest them. Yesterday they were found secreted among some boxes near the canal. Detective Gallagher and Officer Arnold took them into custody and placed them in jail to answer to a charge of suspected felons and vagrants.

THE CELEBRATION.

A Large Procession and Beautiful Display.

The Masonic fraternity of this city turned out in great numbers this morning to attend the celebration of St. John's Day near New Albany. At an early hour the various lodges and commanderies of the Order began to assemble at Masonic Temple. During the forming of the procession in the street, New Philharmonic Band discoursed sweet and stirring airs in the Temple, and immense crowds of lookers on thronged the pavements below, creating a surging mass of animation, extending along Fourth and Green streets for a whole square each way from the Temple. The Knights made a beautiful showing with their brilliant regalia, and shining swords by their side. Altogether, they presented a very martial-like appearance, each mounted on a dark-colored charger.

The procession formed in the following order:

Master Mason Lodges—Clark No. 51, Abraham No. 8, Compass No. 223, Louisville No. 200, Falls City No. 376, Excelsior No. 238.

Chapters, Royal Arch Masons—King Solomon No. 18, Louisville No. 5.

Louisville Council—The various bodies of Thirty-third degree of Scottish Rite.

Knights Templars—Louisville Commandery No. 1, and DeMolay Commandery No. 12.

Headed by the New Philharmonic Band, the grand and imposing cavalcade moved out Fourth street to Chestnut, and down Chestnut on its march to Portland, from whence the ferries conveyed the immense assemblage to the other side. Reaching the levee there, the various sections were again placed in line, and moving up into the town, were joined by the Masonic fraternity of New Albany and Jeffersonville. After parading the principal streets, the immense procession took up its march toward the fair grounds, near the city, where the day will be duly commemorated with appropriate ceremonies.

Republican State Central Committee.

The Kentucky Republican State Committee meets to-day at 3 o'clock in this city. The object of the meeting is to ascertain what amount of stock has been subscribed for the proposed Republican paper in Louisville. Reports also will be made from the committees of each district. Another purpose is to devise means to bring out the strength of the party in the August election. The State committee are as follows:

State at large—W. A. Meriwether, Jno. T. Croxson.

1st Dist.—Hon. N. R. Black, of Crittenden.

2d Dist.—Gen. Eli H. Murray.

3d Dist.—Hon. Geo. T. Wood.

4th Dist.—M. C. Taylor.

5th Dist.—Edgar Needham.

6th Dist.—J. Crockett Sayers.

7th Dist.—Willard Davis.

8th Dist.—Henry S. Burnham.

9th Dist.—John Means, of Boyd.

A Female Thief.

Yesterday a white woman called at the house of Mr. W. E. Milton, on First street, between Walnut and Chestnut, and obtaining an interview with a lady of the family, got permission to go into the kitchen. She said she needed and very much desired a situation to do general housework. She was left alone in the kitchen for a few moments, the lady being called away. When the lady returned the woman had left the premises. A very valuable silver goblet had also left at the same time. Search was made for the woman, but she could nowhere be found, she no doubt being several squares away before her absence from the kitchen was discovered. Let housekeepers be on the lookout for this woman-thief. She evidently makes this kind of stealing a regular vocation, as she has been heard of before.

Abusing a Boy.

An Italian or Frenchman, named Montedicono, was arrested this morning for having struck a lad eight or ten years of age with his open hand. The little boy, in company with several others, was standing in front of Montedicono's fruit stand on Fourth street, when one of the lads stole some apples from the baskets near the pavement. Montedicono ran out and pounced upon the boy slapping him in the eye with his great brawny hand, without knowing which of the boys had stolen his fruit. He had an examination in the City Court this morning, and was held in the sum of $100 to answer a charge of assault and battery.

The Portland Public School.

The examination of the public school in Portland yesterday attracted a large number of persons, and the exhibition was very interesting. The scholars in Mrs. Straus, and Miss Nuttall's classes were perfect in their studies. Every question was correctly and promptly answered. And in the other classes the pupils were but little behind. Mayor Bunce made to the audience and scholars some sensible and instructive remarks. The closing exercises took place last night, pupils in each grade being represented.

Competition the Life of Trade.

It is understood that the old Mail Line will shortly reduce the rates of fare between this city and Cincinnati. It is also stated that business will be conducted on the plan of the Eastern steamers, viz., a certain price for the transit and passengers paying for their meals according to what they may order.

TROUBLE IN LINCOLN COUNTY.

Troops Sent to Stanford.

A detachment of mounted men have been sent by order of the "General Commanding," from Lebanon to Stanford, Ky., to assist the civil authorities in ridding Lincoln and adjoining counties of the marauding band that has been holding sway there for some time past. The troops are to be used only in case the civil authorities are unable to suppress the disorder.

The General Commanding dispatched a staff officer to the scene of the trouble, who has returned and confirms the reports that Henderson Hogg and his band of villains are a terror to law-abiding people, and have burned a house and have been shooting around promiscuously and even whipping a woman. Troops will remain there for the present.

Bloodshed, rapine and murder seem to be the order of the day in this part of the State, if recent reports can be relied on. Let our civil authorities take this matter in hand at once, and put a speedy end, if need be, summary end to all such deeds of violence. That such a gang of ruffians as that which is now infesting Lincoln should be allowed to ride rough-shod, over their peaceably inclined neighbors, is unbearable; and if the State authorities do not portion out to these "cut-throats" a speedy punishment, we must not be surprised to find the peaceably inclined citizens, as a last resort, take the law into their own hands, and make short work in clearing their county of this gang.

A War Case.

In the United District Court this morning a case was tried and decided, which decision may prove interesting to many of our people who lost property in a similar manner during the war. The administrators of C. W. Haydon brought suit against one Captain Penn, who was, at the time, an officer in Col. Hall's Sixth Kentucky (Federal) regiment, Captain Penn, by order of General Boyle, took from C. W. Haydon, deceased, two horses for the use of the army, giving receipt for the same, but on which the deceased or his administrators failed to realize, hence the latter brought suit for damages. The court instructed the jury that, as the horses taken were turned over for the use of the army, and were seized by order of General Boyle, the defendant was not liable for payment for the same. The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

New Albany.

The City Council of New Albany talks of excluding velocipedes from the sidewalks of that town.

A horticultural society is to be organized in New Albany.

"Bob" Dolless, the clever music dealer in New Albany, was on trial there yesterday for riding a velocipede on the sidewalks of that moral town.

New Albany City Orders are fifteen cents below par, and laborers' wages are also below par.

Army Supplies.

A contract was given out for army supplies, such as forage, &c., by Capt. D. H. McComas, at Lebanon, Ky., on Saturday. The specific articles were 12 tons of hay and 1 tons of straw per month, and 350 bushels each of oats and corn per month. There were only two bidders, viz: Hugh B. Phillips, of Marion county, and George F. Clark, of Louisville. It was awarded to Mr. Phillips at $21 per ton for haled and $18 for loose hay; straw at $11; oats at 80 cents and corn at 78 cents.

Ended.

The public examinations in the city schools were ended yesterday, and now both teachers and pupils are free for the summer vacation to enjoy this brief liberty as best they may. This is their annual jubilee season, and, after a long and tedious labor in the pent-up school-room, they certainly have cause to appreciate this one bright gleam of sunshine, coming as it does only once in each year.

Speaking Last Night.

Quite a large crowd were in attendance at the corner of Eleventh and Market streets, last night, to hear the respective candidates present their claims.

J. Hop. Price and Alf. Kierolf were present, and from what we could hear, delivered most excellent addresses.

The crowd were very enthusiastic in their approval of the different views of the respective candidates.

MAHRIED—On the evening of the 23rd inst., at 6 o'clock, at the First Presbyterian Church, by Rev. S. H. Wilson, Captain D. F. C. Weller to Miss Mary Emma Fowler, all of this city.

A greeting to this happy pair—This bridegroom proud and bride so fair—By rosy Cupid drawn together, And tied by Hymen's silver tether. Since Adam first took Eve his wife To cheer his long and lonely life, These kindred hearts will twine as thick As tender vine round sturdy stick; By stock we mean a friendly yoke, But change the name and call it oak. And let us pledge in purest wine This stalwart oak and peaceful vine; Such vines and oaks are often found With tender suckers springing round; So may this bride, the groom, our friend, Have several little plants to tend, And lead a long and peaceful life—A husband proud and faithful wife.

AN EDITOR IN LUCK.—We learn by a special Louisville dispatch of the 21st inst., that the Missouri Democrat, that on Tuesday last, the Hon. H. M. Watterson presented his son, Henry Watterson, managing editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, with a handsome residence on Second street. The numerous friends of the recipient in this city will be glad to hear of Mr. Watterson's good luck. He richly merits such a presentation.—Cin. Times.

In spite of old Pollywog, of the State Department, two more expeditions have sailed for Cuba.

LOUISVILLE CITY COURT.

DOX. E. S. CRAIG, JUDGE.

TUESDAY MORNING, June 24. I feel like a toper who trends alone. I feel like a toper who trends alone. When credit's all give out. And drunk and unaccounted about. And the fellows who treat have departed.

This was the pleasing reflection of our friend William Carr when locked up in the cage, and reflecting on the ups and downs of life, particularly the downs. It seems to be a fact that no one can drink now-a-days without being caught; not even the Good Templars. We don't know whether the aforesaid Carr was a night tippler or not, but he was caught snoozing away not far from the back door of the Galt House, where he said he had been lulled to sleep by the popping of champagne corks. He was let off on a promise not to do any more, with the condition that he would pay $3 for the promise.

The next passenger over the Rhine was some one else; this proved to be Ollie Wright, who wore one single ungilded and one plain-catcher and an old-timer tiler which.

Swung back and forth, and forth again, As mandrill drunk she toddled in.

And she caught a beau, for forthwith came Officer Winston to talk about her interests and her condition generally.—"in short," to tell all the knavish about her case, thought her a deserving lass and gave her a check for board free for thirty days.

Some persons play the fox so well that they are almost coons. John O. Baldwin plays it right heavy some times. This was his third or fourth reliable sporting men assert that the stakes have not been given up, and will not be without another fight. Now let's go with the battle money, and numbers of people in the city who risked their funds on the fight are interested in the reliability of the report.

The Forrest Divorce Case.

New York, June 24.

It is reported that during a gathering of the Cuban expeditionists in Jersey City last night, a Spanish spy was found and beaten, but managed to escape after shooting one of the expeditionists, slightly wounding him.

The United States Marshal for New Jersey is reported to have seized a tugboat and a large barge on which the expeditionists were about to embark, thus preventing their departure. They returned to this city, but will leave tonight.

New York, June 24.

It appears after bail had again been refused for Colonel Ryan yesterday, and while in charge of a deputy marshal, they drove to the Metropolitan Hotel, and on leaving which place, and when near there, the colonel and deputy were surrounded by friends of the former, and suddenly the deputy was seized and bound, and Ryan went to the Cuban rendezvous. Considerable commotion was soon observed among the rescuers, who left in squads for Jersey city, where they collected until late last night, when, with Colonel Ryan and other officers, they embarked on tugs, and were conveyed to a large steamer in the lower bay, and all safely sailed for their destination. There were 500 men in the expedition.

A Col. Currier, formerly on Hooker's staff, and two others, were arrested last night on information from a Spanish spy that they were in the recruiting business for the Cubans.

The deputy marshal was seized by the friends of Ryan and treated to a champagne supper by his (Ryan's) friends, but was not allowed to leave their company until this morning.

New York, June 22.

The Rev. Dr. Patrick Henry Greenleaf was found dead at midnight in the vestry of his church, corner of Prest and Smith streets. When stricken by death he was in the act of making some memoranda, as some note paper, a diary, a quill, pen and ink were on the desk beside him, and an examination of these revealed the fact that he had been transferring from the diary to the paper; the letter "u" in the word "house" being the last one written by his hand. The body was in a sitting posture, the head thrown back and the eyes wide open. It was apparent that the Doctor had been dead only a short time, as the body was not yet cold. He died of apoplexy.

To-day the Forrest divorce case was before the court, probably for the last time. Mr. Forrest had been required by the decree of the court to deposit $70,000 with the United States Trust Company, the interest of which was to be applied to the payment of the $40,000 a year alimony awarded to Mrs. Forrest. Heretofore, for the semi-annual payment of $20,000 alimony, a special order was required. To-day an order was entered by consent that this payment be made without such order.

Letter from Secretary Boutwell to Assistant Secretary Richardson.

WASHINGTON, June 24.

When Secretary Boutwell was at Graten toward the close of last week, he wrote Assistant Secy Richardson a letter with regard to the modification of his plan for the purchase of bonds and the sale of gold. He placed the letter with his own hand in the Graten postoffice. The letter was received by Richardson on Monday, and by him its contents were kept secret until after the close of business, and it was not earlier than half past four when a letter was written to the Assistant Treasurer at New York on that subject, and the paragraph furnished the press. Both gentlemen are confident that owing to the strictness with which the matter was guarded there could be no premature disclosure on the part of any Government official.

GEN. MAGRUDER'S LECTURE.

Maximilian, Carlota, and Mexico.

A large audience was present at Webster Hall last evening to hear the lecture of Gen. Magruder on "Maximilian, Carlota, and Mexico."

The General is a fine, portly appearance, a pleasant manner, together with a pleasant voice and distinct articulation, he at once interests his audience both in himself and his subject, and carries his hearers with him to the end of a well-told narrative.

He was introduced by Gen. Chilton, and commenced by paying a handsome compliment to Kentucky and its people, and remarked on the changes which had taken place since he last visited the State. He then, in a most interesting manner, intended as an effort to repair many of the injuries done the name of the Emperor Maximilian by misrepresentation in this country. He reviewed briefly the causes which led to the invasion of Mexico by the French, also, the objects of Napoleon in seeking to establish an Empire there. He denied that Maximilian was the creature of France, or was dependent for his power upon any foreign power. He was elected by the people of Mexico themselves, having refused to accept the crown on any other conditions.

Then followed an interesting history of the previous life of Maximilian, and a description of his home, from the contentment and happiness of which he and his Carlota were called away to the disturbing and unthought honors of State.

The General then commenced at the close of the civil war in the United States when he with a number of his officers started for Mexico, and from there, from France, smoothly and uninterruptedly on to the fall of the Mexican Empire and the death of Maximilian. After getting within the Imperial lines, and without many persons and hardships, he was arrested by the capital and presented himself before the Emperor. His description of the first interview with Maximilian and Carlota was exceedingly graphic and interesting. Both the Emperor and Empress received him and his companions cordially. His Majesty was very voluble about the manner of internal improvements in the United States. He soon thereafter introduced into the Public Hall the Emperor's speech, which was read by the Emperor and Gen. Magruder at the head of the latter department. Gen. M. also called the Emperor's numerous concessions to Americans of American property and commerce, which Maximilian's policy was to Americanize Mexico as the only solution of the Mexican problem. The United States Government, the General said, could have had no just cause of complaint, but her interests in Mexico had been Maximilian himself.

Gen. M. reviewed the cause and effects of the famous 3d of October order, and defended Maximilian from any unjust or cruel intent in the matter, stating that he was fully justified by the most humane and revolting outrages on the part of the Mexicans, many of which came under his own personal observation. The order was signed by the Emperor, however, with the greatest reluctance. He then hastily reviewed the decline and fall of the empire; the withdrawal of the French troops and the dishonorable desertion of the Emperor by France, Carlota's visit to France, and her reception by Napoleon, and subsequent incarceration.

His description of the last days of Maximilian and the Empire was very interesting, and developed many new facts and reminiscences. After the treason of one of the Emperor's most trusted generals and the evident downfall of the Empire, General Magruder, being consulted by the Emperor, advised him to leave the country and return to Europe, and Maximilian, in doing so, trusted Gen. M. with the preparations for his departure. The Emperor's setting out for Vera Cruz was delayed four days by the burning of a railroad bridge by guerrillas, during which time he was present, and our State was not so far from his supporters to forego his determination and stand by those who had adhered to him so faithfully. Then followed a narration of the infamous betrayal and death of the Prince.

The lecture was listened to throughout with the most marked attention.

Then followed a narration of the infamous betrayal and death of the Prince.
